Re: Funeral for Joanne A. McCall

Dear Tom

This is an exceptionally difficult letter to write, because of my wife's recent passing.

I have finished writing many thank-you cards to folks who extended their kindness to me and our family over the last few weeks. There was one thank-you note that I almost missed; the one to you and all the folks at Beddingfield Funeral Service.

You made a very uncomfortable situation seem somehow comfortable. To say that the professionalism displayed by everyone at your place of business is incredible would be an understatement. You took care of everything that could have been an obstacle, which allowed our family to focus on one another and other important matters.

This is the second funeral you've assisted us with. The words "Thank You" seem to fall short of the appreciation I feel towards Beddingfield.

If you ever need my recommendation or would like to post this letter, feel free to do so.

Thanks again for all your help.

Blessings.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Jack McCall". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Jack" and last name "McCall" clearly legible.

Jack McCall
